

OH, HORRORS! MEN RAN IN BROOKLYN WITH BARE LEGS

Women So Shocked by Cross Country Runners That They Complained to Police.

HARVEY COHN WAS ONE

Six Were Arrested, but Let Go With Warning to Wear Full Length "Pants."

You can't run around Brooklyn without your legs wrapped up, even if you are an Olympic victor. It's a crime.
Brooklyn ladies don't like it. Wherefore there were six athletes arraigned before Magistrate Steers in the Flatbush Court to-day, charged with flaunting their bare legs before the public over the bridge.

They are bona-fide athletes, too, and to say that they were sore to be exposed is faintly. There was Harvey Cohn, living at No. 65 East Thirty-second street, a member of the Thirteenth Regiment athletic team, also a member of the Irish-American Athletic Club, a young man who wins medals and cups and who got second in the three-mile team race at Shepherd's Bush. There were Michael J.
Powers, of No. 69 Poplar street; Joseph Hardmeyer, of No. 22 East Fifth street; Ralph Beggs, of No. 681 Tenth street; Harold Silverberg, of No. 236 Court street, and Edward Shell, of No. 35 Tompkins avenue, all members of the Trinity Athletic Club.

Short of Police.

There were fourteen others in their party, all of them training for the cross country races of the Irish-American Athletic Club, to be held at Celtic Park on Nov. 14. The fourteen were not arrested, as Lieut. Duffy, commanding the Parkville precinct yesterday, had only sent out men enough to arrest six. The fourteen kept right on running and are running yet for aught Duffy knows.

Duffy didn't act entirely on his own initiative. He was taking a quiet nap behind his desk when two indignant women burst in upon him.
"Officer," they said, "there are a lot of young men running round here with nothing on but their underclothes. Their —that is, their limbs are entirely bare. It is very indecent and it is your duty to arrest them."

Then three elderly ladies burst in upon the dazed Duffy. They spoke very plainly and called bare legs "bare legs."

Duffy was thoroughly awake by this time and ordered his reserves to the front.

"Go Get Them," the Order.

"There's a lot of young fellows running round the park naked," he said.
"Go out and get them."
Hundreds of Brooklynites saw the arrest and thousands of Brooklynites followed the six negligence prisoners to the station house. Cohn and his fellow athletes protested vehemently, but when they were lined up before Duffy he was ready for them with a Penal code and book of park ordinances.
"It has been an immemorial custom to train in this costume," Harvey Cohn argued with Duffy.

"Custom or not," replied Duffy, "it's again section 265 of the Penal Code and the park rules. Moreover, you're shockin' the women. There's been five in here rowin' about it."

"But I wore this costume at Shepherd's Bush, before 100,000 people," pursued Cohn.

"I don't care if you wore them in Casarville before a million," snapped Duffy. "It's agin the law and I hold you in $200 bail each."

Mrs. Woods, wife of the proprietor of the Boulevard Hotel, who heard of their predicament, hurried to the station-house and bailed them all out.

When arraigned in the Flatbush Court to-day Magistrate Steers said:

"It's pretty tough on you young men, but this is Brooklyn, you know. Now, if you will only put overalls on or rubber boots the ladies won't object. The women are coming to the front for their rights, and you know what would happen if twenty women went round in running togs anywhere off the stage.
It's all right if you keep to the vacant lots or the woods, but the good people of Brooklyn believe in observing Sunday in full length 'pants.' However, you are discharged."

SEES MAYOR ON BINGHAM.

Judge Leon Sanders called on the Mayor to-day to protest against Police Commissioner Bingham's refusal of leave of absence to the Hebrew members of the force to-day that they might observe Yom Kippur.

"To-day is one of the most important religious days on the Jewish calendar," said Judge Leon. "I regret that Commissioner Bingham has denied their privileges to Hebrews on the force. I have so stated to the Mayor."

DRANK A PINT OF ALCOHOL.
SYRACUSE N. Y., Oct. 5.—Wladislaw Buter, a Pole, drank a pint of clear alcohol yesterday afternoon on a wager As the last drop passed his lips he tumbled over unconscious and was hastened to a hospital by a physician who was summoned. It is thought he will recover.

REGISTER TO-DAY!
If you don't register you can't vote!

SUFFRAGETTES, IN FIERCE ASSAULT, DEMAND REGISTRY

New Law Balks One Determined Onslaught by Fifteen Equal Righters.

Fifteen suffragettes, crowned with grassy new fall hats and clad in tailor-made gowns, laid siege to the polling place of the Seventh Election District of the Twelfth Assembly District, at No.
997 Sixth avenue to-day, and made a futile effort to get their names on the registry list.

They succeeded, however, in collecting a vast throng and furnishing the men in it with a great deal of amusement.
The registration officers also had some fun with the "new women."

Mrs. Julia Seton Sears, M. D., who lives in the Carnegie Hall studio building, was the first of the suffragettes to demand the right of suffrage. Gathering up her skirts determinedly, she strode into the place and said to Chairman Peter B. Finney:

"I wish to register, sir."

"Are you prepared to ask the questions provided by the new law?" asked Finney.

"I am," replied Dr. Sears.

"Then, how old is Ann?" asked Finney. This witticism was greeted with a shout of laughter by the mere men.

Mrs. Dr. Sears bristled with indignation and said shrilly:

"Do you mean to insult me, sir?"

"Not at all," replied Finney, "but we're allowed to ask that question of all female voters, and if they can't answer they can't vote."

"Outrageous!" cried Mrs. Sears, and "Outrageous!" echoed the fourteen other suffragettes who crowded the doorway.

Before the women could express their indignation at more length some rough person in pants on the outside shouted, "Go home and mind the baby." This cry was hurled at the suffragettes from every side, whereupon they fled in confusion.

They managed to keep together, nevertheless, and, marshalled in stern array bore down on the registration place at No. 940 Eighth avenue. There Mrs. G. Collins, an artist, living in the Van Dyke studio building, demanded permission to register, but was met with the same cruel refusal.

"Don't think you can discourage us," said Mrs. Collins, as she turned away.

We will go on all over the city and demand our rights. Then we will take the matter up in the courts and the Legislature. The day is coming when our votes will be a mighty influence."

Among this grim group of woman's righters were Miss Lillian Phillips, Mrs.
Alice Pierce, Miss Mary Coleman, a lawyer, Mrs. Sophy Leibling, of No. 29 Edgemoor avenue; Miss Helen Murphy, and Miss Sears, a daughter of Dr.
Sears.

WALL PAPER
